There are always spies everywhere, it doesn't matter. If anyone shills on us that's fine, we just deport them.

Matrix is great. But be prepared for them to just shut down the networks completely there, without internet you cannot access Matrix.

<https://bridgefy.me/>

Bridgify is the app the Hong Kong protestors used and it creates a mesh network between phones to be able to chat when the internet is down. This will work as a backup.

Bridgefy is definitely the app to have as a backup.

There's a lot of potential for communication to be disrupted, accidentally or maliciously.

Something that allows communication to continue without an active internet/cell connection will be extremely useful

<https://bridgefy.me/demo-app/>

Why does it say this:

To make sure someone else can receive your Bridgefy messages, check that the following are true:

That person is within 330 feet of you

Makes it sound like it has no actual mesh network functionality and is just a walkie talkie basically

Also note:

The Bridgefy messaging app is currently undergoing a series of security and privacy improvements. Sometime during October 2020, we will publish a version of the Bridgefy app that will be extremely safe and private. For the time being and until further notice, we urge users to be cautious when using the Bridgefy app, as outside actors may interfere with it in unfavorable ways for users.

Does it just allow 1-1 chats, or chat groups, or...?

Would be nice if everyone showed up with this installed. Is there an easy way to distribute the APK offline if only 0.01% show up with this installed and it needs to be installed offline by people first hearing about it the day of?

permalink parent save report block reply

▲ 3 ▼

– bosticetudis 3 points 11 hours ago +3 / -0

Because if only two people have the app, those two need to be within 330 feet of someone else that has the app.

Noice.

If you are staying in hotels on the NOVA side, just know that theres only a couple of bridges into the city, Key Bridge (lands in M street Georgetown), Roosevelt (lands by Kennedy Center), and Memorial (lincoln memorial/23rd street).

Theres also 395 but you cant really walk across that one. (and I doubt they shut it down as its more of a highway rather than a direct city access bridge)

Best bet for easy access walking if they shut down bridges to vehicles, or METRO, would be KEY or MEMORIAL

– AstronoMink 21 points 12 hours ago +21 / -0

If they shut down ALL the bridges to ALL traffic, I will rent a doggammed KAYAK & and drag myself across the river on ropes.

Nothing will stop me.

What else do you suggest for people organising? Telegram is great, any the users have even made sub groups, but if it's a free chat it will inevitably get overwhelming and spammed.

Remember you can mute Telegram chats then check them in your own time.

They can quickly get overwhelming, especially when people start spamming.

You could give newcomers test questions that would either normally be asked by someone redpilled trying to redpill someone else, or a truthful question where the answer could be viewed as negative toward Trump. If they don't know the answer to the redpill question and/or they try to answer untruthfully to the other question because they think you want an answer that's positive toward Trump, those would be red flags.
